

Coloring Kids Social Skills Idea

Write a Postal Mail Letter and Give a Personal Gift

Write handwritten cheery letters. Everybody likes to receive a letter.

Put pen to paper about schoolwork - chores - projects - awards - hobbies - stuff you have learned.

- Mail a letter to your grandparents, aunts, uncles, cousins, soldiers, friends, pen pals, and kids who are sick.
- Ask: "How you are doing?", "What projects or hobbies are you working on?" (They will write you a letter, too.)
- Add your coloring artwork as a personal gift.
- Pick out and add a few coloring sheets for another kid.

Use a manila envelope, or fold the coloring sheets for a regular envelope.

Write at least one letter a month to one person. You will grow in friendships and family relationships. Your shyness will go away, too! Sweet!
